WAR PREPARATIONS OVER ITALY'S NOTE

DEMANDS GREEK APOLOGY FOR ASSASSINATIONS

APOLOGIES ASKED FOR MURDER OF GENERAL

Ambushing and Slaying of Frontier Mission Arouses Italian Government.—Deed Attributed to Orders From Athens.

RAPID DEVELOPMENT IN WAR CRISIS

Italian fleet seizes Corfu, a score of civilians being killed and many wounded during the sea and air bombardment.

Seizure of additional ports and a blockade of the coast of Greece was contemplated as soon as possible to be executed.

Great Britain is expected to move swiftly to guard the neutrality treaty of Corfu, held violated by the Italian seizure. A British squadron arrives at Corfu.

Involvement of Spain is feared following dispatch by Italy of a warship to Tangiers, the Madrid government controlling that city.

Britain is held to support Greece in her plea for international arbitration.

The Italian battle fleet believed approaching Piraeus, port of Athens, to conduct a demonstration.

London.—Premier Mussolino's dramatic ultimatum to Greece has plunged Europe into a new Balkan crisis.

While diplomats in every capital watch the lower Adriatic danger point, foreign officers are preparing to assure the safety of their nationals in Greece should the crisis flame to open hostility.

Greece, astounded at the Italian attack, will offer partial reparations, it is believed. Athens dispatches, however, indicate that she cannot accept the more humiliating clauses of the note.

The Greek government is already in communication with the League of Nations on the advisability of appealing for mediation.

It is understood that she will base her claim for such mediation on articles thirteen, fifteen and sixteen of the league covenant.

Rome.—Italy has demanded from Greece one of the most abject apologies in the history of international relations for the coldblooded murder of General Telleni and four of his staff on the Greece-Albanian frontier.

The Italians, members of the Italian section of the international commission for demilitating the frontier, were brutally slain in a carefully arranged ambush attack, prompted, it is charged, by Greek hostility to the commission's attitude.

An official communique stated.

"From acts preceding the slaughter, and from other symptoms and facts which will be illustrated in due time, and from the entire body of information gathered from various sources on the spot of the massacre, as well as from the persistent campaign defamatory to the Italian government, which has been carried on in the Greek press, the royal government has arrived at the conviction that the moral and material responsibility falls on the Greek government.

"As a result of this, the head of the royal government, confident that he is interpreting the sentiment of indignation of the entire Italian nation, has directed Minister Montagna to present to Greece a written note in which Italy demands:

That the highest Greek authority will officially apologize to the Italian government in the Italian legation at Athens.

That a solemn funeral service to the memory of the slain men will be held in the Catholic Cathedral at Athens, with the attendance of the personnel of the entire Greek fleet.

That the entire Greek fleet, assembled at the Port of Pireas (the sea port of Athens), will salute the Italian flag hoisted on an Italian squadron which will go to Pireas for this purpose.

That this salute will be of twenty-one guns and that in the course of the salute the Italian flag must be hoisted to the main mast of each Greek man-of-war.

That the Greek authorities, assisted by the Italian military attache at Athens, Colonel Perrone, will conduct a thorough inquest at the spot of the massacre within five days from the acceptance of the demands by the Greek government. The Greek government will be held directly responsible for Perrone's personal safety.

ORIGIN OF POLYNESIAN RACE FOUND ON BIRD ISLAND

Honolulu.—Scientific data and specimens, expected to prove of invaluable aid in solving the origin and the migrations of the Polynesian race were brought to Honolulu by the scientific and naval party which has just completed the third month of investigation in the Bird Island reservation. Evidence of former habitation was discovered on the small island of Necker, where a community apparently had established itself in a series of caves on the side of a sheer cliff. A number of stone implements and bowls and several human bones were found there.

The expedition gathered enough material to merit several months of further study, according to Dr. H. E. Gregory, director of the Bishop museum, who is in charge of the expeditions.

RUSSIAN SOVIET TO BACK REVOLUTION OF GERMAN REDS

Moscow.—The Russian Soviet unanimously adopted a resolution to appeal to the army and workers to support a red revolution in Germany by donations "and otherwise." The resolution says, "If Germany is controlled by France it will mean a new campaign against Russia." The document appeals to workers in all countries throughout the world to mobilize their strength and hamper interference with Germany's home affairs.

This is the first active step on the part of the Russians to precipitate a red uprising in Germany. Heretofore the assistance has been in the nature of moral support.

Export Surplus Grain

Washington.—Russia will have a surplus of 2,000,000 tons of grain for export in the next year, says Col. N. W. Haskell, director of the American relief administration. Most of this surplus will be exported to Germany and very little will find its way to the United States. Colonel Haskell says Russia was devoting her energies to reorganizing its industries and to building up its transportation system.

Mines To Be Safeguarded

Harrisburg, Pa.—An agreement was reached between the policy committee of anthracite operators and the officials of the miners' union under which the union men employed as pumpmen, engineers and maintenance men will be allowed to stay at work even if suspension of mining now ordered becomes effective. The men named are needed to prevent the mines from flooding and caving in.

Harding Casket in Sarcophagus

Marion, Ohio.—The casket containing the body of the late President Harding was placed in an asphalt sarcophagus weighing 2,600 pounds. After the sarcophagus was sealed it was placed in the vault in the Marion cemetery, where the body was originally entombed.

Record Breaking Reports

The report further details the break as coming about over the prohibition and the Japanese immigration issues and a difference in their attitudes to Senator Johnson As a preliminary step to the dissolution both brothers have formed separate corporations.

A leather belt found in a south drift of the Argonaut mine, and positively identified as belonging to William Fessel, furnishes what is said to be complete substantiation of a generally accepted theory that Fessel perished as the forty-seventh victim of the Argonaut disaster. It is thought the belt became separated from the decomposed body of the miner in the heated south drift of the mine and that the remains will be found soon. A rumor that a man answering Fessel's description was seen around Susanville was investigated and found without foundation.

Fire that originated in the boiler room of the Beach & Son box factory at Placerville did a damage in excess of $100,000 and burned over four acres of buildings and yards. The loss includes 750,000 feet of lumber, eight carloads of box shook, while all the machinery in the factory and planing mill is a total loss. Three buildings other than the mill property were destroyed and several others were scorched.

It cost the government $168,778 to arrest 3,204 offenders; 156,171 gallons of wine and whiskey were destroyed.

Two automobiles collided at the top of the Ojai grade, between Ojai and Ventura, and one machine was forced over the 150-foot precipice, killing Thomas Castro and Mrs. Manuel Velasquez instantly and fatally injuring Manuel Velasquez and their 14-year-old son. The University of California glee club will be a feature of the Santa Cruz county fair, the evening of September 9.

ANOTHER BANK MERGER

The Mercantile Trust Company of California has concluded negotiations with the Growers National Bank of Campbell for their consolidation with The Mercantile Trust Company, and on or about October 1, 1923, The Mercantile Trust Company will move its banking offices from their present location to the banking rooms of the Growers National Bank.

The consolidation will in no way effect the relations existing between the Growers National Bank and its clients, nor will there be any break in the continuity of the Bank's operations.

REALTY TRANSFERS

A. G. Noftz, who has been living in the Alice Smith house on Harrison Avenue will move into the Purmort house on North Central when the John Lunds vacate it.

The demand for houses to rent in Campbell remains as urgent as ever, altho the real estate market is not quite as active as a few months ago, but property is still changing hands.

A. J. Jones has recently sold lots on South Central Avenue, east of the railroad tracks to John Noller, J. Wright and Mrs. Delano, all of whom expect to build This will make quite an addition to that section of town.

In fact, Campbell is expanding in all directions, keeping up a steady growth.

BUSINESS BOUGHT

The Busy Bee has again changed hands, the new purchaser being Jerry Morse, who comes here from San Jose. Mr. Morse was originally from New York, but has been out here for some time, for three years of which he was with the Royal Cafeteria in San Jose.

Mr. Morse is a friend of the W. B. Smith's and Mrs. Smith is helping him in the store.

This store has always been a "busy" one and will doubtless continue to be under its new owner.

NEW MESSENGER

The first day of September, J. H. Neff entered upon his new duty as mail messenger for Uncle Sam for the Campbell Post Office.

After the death of Robert Blaine, who had held that position for a great many years, notice was posted calling for bids for the place, and Mr. Neff was the successful bidder. W. C. Grizzle, who has very satisfactorily filled the place in the enterim, did not wish to apply for it permanently.

PRETTY WEDDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hyde was the scene of a pretty wedding Saturday evening when a cousin of Mrs. Hyde's, Miss Frances Hunter, of Des Moines, Iowa, became the bride of Frank Peter O'Brien.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Judge F. B. Brown of San Jose, uncle of the bride, in the presence of about thirty-five relatives.

The house was beautifully decorated with flowers, pink amaryllis and pink roses, combined with Michaelmas daisies. A charming bower made of these flowers with tall potted plants forming a background was the setting for the ceremony. Light refreshments were served, after which Dr. G. B. Husted, of Modesto, took the bridal couple to San Francisco.

The groom comes from Lawrence, Mass., but is located in San Francisco, where they will reside.

Rev. and Mrs. Eckles, returned last week from their month's vacation and Mr. Eckles occupied the pulpit of his church Sunday.

John Lund recently bought the Clark house on Alice Way, which was uncompleted. He has had it finished and the family will move this week.

BENEVOLENT "MARKET DAY"

The directors of the Home of Benevolence of San Jose, are planning for an elaborate Market Day, to be held in the City Hall Park, Saturday, September 15. The funds derived from the day's sales will be added to the building fund of the home.

Mrs. J. C Ainsley is in charge of the cut flowers, potted plants, and candy booth. Anyone interested in helping in this worthy cause will please leave potted plants with Mrs. R. Alison; cut flowers, including small ones for French bouquets, with Mrs. Warren Shelley and candy with Mrs. Ainsley. Candy boxes in good condition will also be appreciated.

Anyone wishing to contribute any of the above, and not able to deliver them, please telephone Mrs. Ainsley, Campbell 163, who will be glad to call for them.

In the Mercury-Herald of Sunday a complete list of booths and other attractions was listed and the affair promises to be very successful. Campbell people will undoubtedly be glad to help with donations and patronage.

WHAT WEARS OUT PRESIDENTS?

What is it that wears out presidents of normal vigor, in times that are anywhere near normal? It is not the big things; for the men elected are usually big enough to handle them, and any good mind, in an emergency can rise to the occasion. It is the little things and the little men. It is chiefly the horde of citizens who want jobs for themselves and their friends, and who hound any tolerant president beyond the limit of human endurance about petty appointments that ought to be made auomatically on merit or by some routine system conducted by cabinet or departmental heads.

Few appointments except to the cabinet, the supreme court or foreign ambassies, are important enough to occupy the time of the ruler of 110,00,000 people. Yet he is continually harrassed by the necessity of passing on appointments of all sorts, including the signing of the commissions for army and navy officers and particularly the naming of postmasters.

This last named task is the least important of all. The postoffice is supposed to be "out of politics". Yet a vast political significance mostly ficticious, is attached to the appointment of postmasters in most communities.

Surely it is time to do away with all such nonsense, and give the man with the biggest job in the world, a chance to handle his work with the freedom from petty detail and personal intrusion which characterizes our big business men—Chairman Gary or Henry Ford, for example. Neither of them permits, or is permitted to have his strength and time wasted by an endless series of callers and letters and telegrams from the mob of job-hunters and privilege-seekers and aimless time-wasters who always flock to places of power. Any president, to do his best and conserve his strength, must touch only the high spots of government and be let alone.

Congress should give the necessary relief where legislation is required. The reform, however, depends on the president himself as much as on congress.

PRESIDENT'S SECRETARY

The appointment of former Congressman C. Bascom Slemp, of Virginia, as Secretary to the President, is creating widespread comment. It came as a complete surprise as it had been confidently anticipated that President Coolidge would make his selection from among Massachusetts men. But not only has the president chosen a Secretary of residence far from the Bay State but he has selected a man two years his senior. But in his choice President Coolidge has secured as the incumbent of this most important post a man who has served fifteen years in Congress, who has an intimate knowledge in public affairs and men, understands the political game in its every phase, and who is well versed in every activity that enters official life at the National Capital. As chairman of the Republican Committee of Virginia for nearly twenty years, a more experienced man in G.O. P. organization affairs could not be found and it is pointed out that no one in that political house understands the situation in Republican circles in the South and no one is better qualified to handle it. Thus from various angles it is pointed out that Secretary Slemp is especially qualified for the place to which he has been appointed. It is agreed in political circles that President Coolidge has chosen a man who can render valuable service both in the disposition of affairs of state and in matters political that may develop in the future.

ANOTHER FARMER BOY

President Coolidge is another farmer boy who has been elevated to the highest office within the gifts of the people. And, what is more, the press of the whole country is a unit in believing that in President Coolidge, although he is a New England Republican of the Old Guard variety, the country will have a safe, wise and capable leader who will "carry on" and that the standing of our country abroad and conditions at home will both show marked improvement. Coolidge is a positive character, one who does not owe his office to any group or faction of his party, but who while a good party man, will be actuated more by what he conceives to be right than by expediency, or with a view to furthering his political fortunes.

DAZZLING AUTO HEADLIGHTS

Driving into the dazzling lights of an oncoming car is dangerous business—dangerous alike to the dazzler and the dazzled. And it is so unnecessary. To dim the lights of a car is so simple, and easy a task, that it seems that the danger involved by not doing so would compel the motorist approaching another car at night to take this simple precaution against the possibility of accident to his own car as well as the cars of others. It should not take a law to bring about the dimming of headlights. Common decency demands that a motorist practice this simple rule of night driving etiquette, for it is etiquette, and good manners are just as essential on the road as in the ballroom.

Grover Bergdoll at least would be free from annoyance by kidnappers if he were at Atlanta or Leavenworth.

Congressional "gas" inquiry is urged, says a dispatch. It refers however, to the kind used in automobiles.

Method of keeping hootch out of politics: First keep it out of politicians.

Fern Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Evans, is spending the week at Bonnie Briar, in the Santa Cruz mountains at the district camp of the Camp Fire Girls. Mrs. L. Shelley, guardian of the Cambrian group, is chaperoning some of her group and Fern, as Mrs. Geo. F. Miller, who was leader of the Campbell girls, has gone to San Francisco.

Walter W. Merrill and family visited at the E. C. Merrill home Wednesday. They were on their way to San Francisco to meet guests, whom they will take back to Los Angeles.

P. B. Payne returned to Lyndon this week where he will be at work on fruit trees during the month of September.

Hard Facts
Food for Thought

The days when the products of the farmer are going down and the wages of the worker being reduced, call for sober facing of hard facts.

At such times the man who has something "salted down" has a buffer between himself and the rough edges of hard conditions. But what of those who are not so fortunate? For them a period of depression is a good season to begin the "salting" procrss. Often, because economy becomes the fashion, saving is easier in hard times than in good times. So the present is not the occasion for discouragement, but for a firm stand and fresh beginnings.

Concrete benefits obtained from a period of prosperity are usually a reward of thrifty habits acquired in times of depression. Facts with hard, sharp corners have thus spurred many men to a success that they could never have achieved otherwise. CALLED BY DEATH

Mr. and Mrs. J. Bannister have the sincere sympathy of the community in the sudden death of their little daughter, Thelma Hortensia, at two o'clock Wednesday morning.

The little one whose sixth birthday would have occurred in October, had been suffering from asthma, which affected her heart, resulting in death.

Funeral services under the direction of Hocking and Williams were held Thursday at 2:30 o'clock from the Methodist church, Rev. F. C. Farr officiating, and interment was made in Los Gatos cemetery.

The first meeting of the Country Woman's Club has been postponed one week to September 17, as it would be inadvisable to use the floor so soon after its finishing, which is being done this week.

However a full attendance is urged for the first meeting in the new home, at which the programs for the year will be given out and a short social hour enjoyed. Remember, Monday, the 17th, at 2:30 o'clock.

Doctor W. I. Merrill and family drove to St. Helena Tuesday and visited Mrs. Mabel Henry at the Sanitarium. Doctor Merrill reported her as being in better physical condition than he had hoped for, and that the removal of her tonsils has resulted in a cessation of headaches from which she has suffered constantly for several years. She expects to go to her sister at Santa Ana the last of the week if conditions continue favorable. Mr. Alison will take her from the sanitarium to Oakland.

Campbell Union High School will open September 24, with but one change in the faculty, Mrs. Anna C. Dart, of Berkeley, will have charge of the Commercial department in place of Miss Ochsner, who was married this summer. The other teachers are D. H. Cramer, principal; C. E. York, assistant principal; Misses Kittie Johnson, Claribel Boesch, Lois Gardner, Violet Otterman, Marian Jenkins, Mrs. R. B. Hummel, Arthur H. Wegel, and Prof. Josef Halamicek.

Change in Relation of Woman to the Social and Political Organization

By PRESIDENT HARDING, in Helena Address.

THEN came the war, and all at once even the most dubious among us realized that the women, everywhere, constituted the first line of industrial reserves upon which society must fall back in its great crisis. . . . Not as a boon, but as a duty, full partnership in the conduct of political affairs was conferred upon them.

All this has inevitably worked a profound change in the relation of woman to the social and political organization. We may approve it or disapprove it, we may view it with satisfaction or with misgiving, but the fact is before us that woman has taken a new place in the community. And just as her participation in the industrial sphere expands, so her relations to the home and its interest is necessarily contracted. . . .

Frankly I am one of those old-fashioned people who would be glad if the way could be found to maintain the traditional relations of father, mother, children, and home. But very plainly these relations are in process of a great modification. The most we can do, to the utmost possible extent, is to readapt our conditions of industry and of living so as to enable the mothers to make the most of their lessened opportunity for shaping the lives and minds of their children. We must hope, and we must make it possible, that mothers will not assume, when their babes of yesterday become the schoolboys and schoolgirls of today, that the responsibility of the mother is ended, and that the teacher, the school authorities, the college, the state, will henceforth assume it.

Rather, we must recognize that no other influence can possibly be substituted for that of motherhood; and we must make it possible for the mothers to co-operate with these social institutions of the new order, to give the children as far as possible the privileges of a home atmosphere which will supplement the advantages of mere education and training. . . . In short, the mothers must be placed in such position that despite their obligations outside the home they shall not have to surrender their domestic responsibility.

COOPERATIVE FARM MARKETING NOTES

Progress of the Movement to "Put Farming on Par With Other Big Business."

A pamphlet and questionnaire on co-operative farm marketing recently issued by the State Bank Division, American Bankers Association, has brought out valuable information on the subject from bankers, farmers and state agricultural departments. It is being used as a campaign document in the organization of co-operative marketing associations in various sections of the country, farmers having adopted its slogan: "Put Agriculture on a Par with Other Big Business."

* * *

The movement on the part of farmers toward co-operative marketing as a cure for their present economic plight is nation-wide. There has been notable progress in the development of such associations, some conspicuously successful ones being in operation at the present time. There have also been some disastrous failures among these ventures in co-operative marketing, which is the inevitable accompaniment of the progress of any movement. The "Banker-Farmer," published by the American Bankers Association, says:

"Cause and effect are operative in co-operative marketing as truly as they are in every other business enterprise. An association will not necessarily succeed or fail merely because it is a co-operative association, but because it conforms to or transgresses from the underlying principles of successful business operation. The movement itself is of great national import and the bankers of the country can materially aid or retard its progress. The responsibility of leadership in rural communities rests very largely with the country banker. It is his duty to be informed on all matters relating to the farmers' well-being."

* * *

Modern conditions are such that agriculture cannot be successful by individual effort. To regain its position as a basic industry, and as a force in national affairs, agriculture must depend upon organization and co-operation for economic production, for economic marketing and for the establishment of its proper relationship in community life. — Howard Leonard, President, Illinois Agricultural Association.

Don't Confuse "High-Price" with "High-Quality"

If automobile oils were priced solely on quality and efficiency, no oil should cost you more than good, high quality Zerolene. But quality and efficiency do not determine the price of oils sold here. The difference in the price of Zerolene and other oils usually goes into long-haul transportation and high merchandising costs, which we do not have to pay to make Zerolene available. All that you spend for Zerolene goes to buy high quality only.

Therefore we say, "Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less." Ask for it by name—Zerolene.
